THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

In the first chapter of Mark's Gospel, the people respond to Jesus because He teaches with authority. The basis for their appreciation is that He has just shown them how He can cure sick people. In other words He backs up His words with actions. In today's Gospel Jesus welcomes back His disciples, who have been displaying the same gifts in their mission by themselves. The Gospel understanding of authority is identical with the idea of authenticity. You cannot just make statements and declarations. You have to give evidence to back up your arguments. The Gospel of Jesus is one of repentance, of the need to change our lives. The change of life is in itself a getting rid of any darkness in our lives, whether it be physical or spiritual. Jesus has the power to enable us to make this change and He uses that power. In much of this section of Mark's Gospel Jesus is in conflict with those who think and behave differently from Him. Quite often it is the scribes and the Pharisees, but today's Gospel follows the story of the death of John the Baptist, in which we are faced with the conflict between the ruling forces and the message of truth. It is a forewarning of what will happen to Christ himself.
